Moodle online quizzes.

Moodle includes tools to let instructors create online quizzes. There are a large number of options. You probably won’t see all of them used. Instructors can control when the quiz is available and set a time limit for an attempt. The default setting will shuffle answers to a question, but questions can also be shuffled. You may also be given feedback after an answer.

How to take a quiz

Click the quiz link on the course’s main page.

Read any instructions.

If a quiz is timed, a “Time left” countdown should appear at the left of screens with questions.

Click “Attempt quiz now” to start the quiz, or use the browser back button to cancel.

You will see some information about taking the quiz. Press “Start attempt” to begin taking the quiz.

Note: The instructor has options to give feedback during or after the quiz.

You may see a variety of question types. One type is the classic multiple-choice. Click to put a check mark next to your choice or choices.

You can click the Flag icon to mark a question you wish to return to later.
True/False questions may be included in the quiz.

The instructor can break a quiz into several pages. Click “Next” for the next page or to finish.

You may see “fill-in-the-blank” questions.

For an essay question, type your answer into the text box. You can use the editor to add formatting, such as Bold, Italic, and bullet points.

In a matching question, select the correct match for each item from the drop down menu.

When you reach the end of the questions, you should review your answers and click the “Next” icon.

Summary of attempt

You should see a list of question numbers and their status. In this example you can see which questions were not yet answered and a question that you flagged earlier.

You can click the flag icon to return to the flagged question or the number of the question to return to a question.

Once you've answered all the questions you wish to, you should click the “Done” icon to return to the “Summary of attempt” page and click the “Submit and finish” button.
If you have any questions about Moodle quizzes, please contact moodle@alb.edu or (610) 921-7211 (the Library Reference Desk). You can also use the Chat function on the Library main page for help.

You will be given a last chance to change your answers. To view your answers again, click “Cancel”.

To send the quiz for grading, click “Submit all and finish”.

Click “Back to the course” to return to the course’s main page.

If the quiz doesn’t require the instructor to check text you entered, the quiz can be graded immediately by Moodle.

Once the quiz is graded, you should be able to check your grade by clicking “Grades” in the Settings block of the Moodle course.

This quiz shows the question types that are available in Moodle.
